Entertaining Program rallied for QHR '08

Three days of fun entertainment have been programmed for the QHR from the 4 – 6 April 2008.

Rally organisers put the call out for entertainers, and the response from bands, bush poets and story-tellers, clowns, acrobats, light-horsemen, working dog handlers and whip-crackers will make for an entertaining and varied line-up over the course of the event.

Adding to traditional entertainment such as the tractor races, tractor pulling & balancing events and the daily highlight event –The Grand Parade, organisers believe they have come up with something for everyone.

Entertainment committee member, Anthea Curtis said that as well as taking in the heritage machinery featured at the rally, visitors would be able to enjoy the Rockhampton Heritage Village's displays, and the variety of entertainers brought in for the event.

We want the Rally to be a community festival, so we designed the entertainment program to feature a whole range of talent, to appeal to different people, Miss Curtis said.

Live music will also feature at the Rally dinners each night, ensuring a festive end to each day.

The final program will be available within the few weeks and will be added to the rally website.
